The bank with food at its heart

As a bank founded by farmers, for farmers, Rabobank is proud of its role in agriculture's history, and future.

Rabobank was founded by a group of Dutch farmers in the mid-1800's, cooperating to fill the unique rural finance gap being left by urban financial institutions of the time.

Today, we are proudly supporting the entire agricultural value chain from farm to fork across 37 countries.

Sustained success over such a significant period is remarkable, yet not coincidental. It's a result of the genuine and honest intentions of the bank – supporting agribusiness, and the community – objectives that have remained firm for over a century.

Helping Australia grow

Rabobank's Australian story began in 1994 when it identified the region's agricultural strength and acquired Primary Industry Bank of Australia Ltd (PIBA).

Today, we are proud to support the entire value chain, offering rural finance to farmers and agribusinesses as well as online savings products which are reinvested to support the Australian food and agri sector.

Our local teams have their boots on the ground, supporting 61 branches across Australia, each ingrained in and passionate about their local community.

Putting clients, and their communities, first

From humble beginnings to the world's leading food and agribusiness cooperative - Rabobank has a rich history of community engagement

And it's all thanks to a strong client-focussed approach.

As a global cooperative we do not answer to shareholders and can afford to take a long-term view.

We put the client at the centre of everything we do, and with a strong rural and regional footprint, we are actively engaged in the agricultural industries and communities in which our clients live.

With the aim of tangibly and meaningfully contributing to the vibrancy and resilience of rural Australia, the Rabo Community Fund was established to support local grassroots initiatives, identified by our seven regional Rabo Client Council groups.

These groups are made up of Rabo clients representing their regional community, suggesting where initiatives and funding can be most useful, centred around themes including:

- Long term Industry Capacity & Agricultural Education
- Environmental Sustainability
- Rural/Urban Connection
- Rural Wellbeing
- Adaption/Disruption
- Natural Disaster Resilience

Some of our Rabo Client Council initiatives include:

- Complimentary Financial Skills Workshops across regional Australia
- 'Are You Boggled Mate?' rural wellbeing sessions facilitated by Mary O'Brien
- Teacher Farm Experience Programs to help educators better understand, experience and teach agriculture
- 'George the Farmer' primary school book week competition focused on educating children where their food and fibre comes from
- Heart of Australia partnership supporting mobile health services in remote rural Australia
- Rabo Tertiary Pathways Scholarship Program for undergraduates encouraging careers in agriculture
- Boys to the Bush MENToring and camp programs for boys

Supporting the next generation of agri leaders through the Rabo Graduate Program

A unique opportunity for graduates to join a purpose-led organisation whilst experiencing a variety of Rabobank career options.

We proudly offer university graduates from around Australia the opportunity to embark on a meaningful career path.

Our grad program offers bespoke rotations tailored to each graduates background, interest, skill and development focus.

Whether it's connecting with colleagues in our Sydney head office or one of our 61 branches around Australia, to working with our food and farming clients on the ground, or enjoying an international rotation in our global head office, graduates can be part of the team helping our clients to feed the world more sustainably.

We are also long term partners of Nuffield Scholarships - a unique program offering Australian primary producers a chance to learn, travel and work, and Innovation Generation - a conference for ages 18 - 35 that bring together the brightest and best industry experts with real-world experience for learning, networking, tours, and workshops.

Rabobank Leadership Awards

For over 25 years Rabobank has proudly recognised agribusiness leaders from across Australia and New Zealand.

Bringing together vision and courage, their leadership inspires others and provides a pathway for the future.

By recognising these leaders, Rabobank is shining a light on the agribusiness sector and sharing the stories of those who are making a meaningful contribution to building a stronger agricultural industry and community.

Peer-nominated and judged, the Rabobank Leadership Award is presented to individuals who create sustainable growth and prosperity at both a corporate and industry level in the food and agribusiness industries, whilst the Emerging Leader Award is presented to an outstanding up-and-coming agri industry talent.

The Rabobank Community Leadership Award, judged by the Rabo Client Council Chairs and Deputies, was announced in 2023 to recognise and celebrate the importance of local grassroots organisations making an impact in rural Australia and New Zealand.

A grant of $25,000 was gifted to the Rabobank Australian Community Leadership Award recipient, Boys to the Bush, a grass-roots organisation that focuses on supporting young boys through camping and MENToring programs for community engagement, leadership, friendship and the development of life skills.

Saveful Partnership

The average Australian household wastes 15kg of food each week despite 70% of food binned being perfectly edible.

We've partnered with Saveful - a free app designed to maximise the food on-hand through meal frameworks, recipes, chef hacks, tips and tricks inspired by Matt Moran to help Australians save food, money and time.

Supporting agriculture's path to sustainability

We are working with our clients, communities and industries to future-proof their activities and businesses with global and local industry knowledge, education, sector partnerships and financial solutions that support sustainability ambitions.

To do this, we're helping clients make sense of the changing business landscape to determine their own path forward.

Our staff are trained to understand the challenges and opportunities our clients face, and to translate this through meaningful conversations with clients.

We also offer rural clients dedicated carbon training workshops, aimed to provide clarity and support farmers with their own carbon emissions calculations so they can take the first step on their sustainability journey.

Local at heart, with a global vision and expertise, Rabobank is committed to the long-term viability, sustainability and resilience of agriculture, and our holistic approach – client-led and knowledge-driven, starting from the community up – is genuinely unique.

*And it makes us very proud,
over 120 years on.*

The RaboTruck

Our vision in building the RaboTruck was to create a mobile experience and multipurpose space for sharing our knowledge and our farmers' amazing stories in both rural and urban areas, helping connect city and country.
